The Law Faculty offers three quota restricted units in 2007:

- LAWS3319: INTERNATIONAL TRADE LAW
  This unit is offered in semester one and is restricted to an enrolment total of 120 students. Where enrolment exceeds 120 students a ballot will be undertaken and preference will be given to final year students.

- LAWS3366: FORENSIC ADVOCACY
  Offered to final-year students only
  This is a one week intensive unit run in the second semester break (10-14 September) with a prompt 9am start daily. Assessment is ungraded pass/fail based entirely on attendance and participation — there are NO EXCEPTIONS to the attendance requirements, do not enroll if you are unable to attend all sessions every day.

  The unit is very demanding and thorough preparation by reading the course material and cases provided before sessions commence is essential. Where applications exceed places available there will be a ballot.

  Note: If you are not present on the first morning by 9:15am, your place in the course will be given to the next reserve on the list

  Successful completion of LAWS3310 Evidence is a pre-requisite for enrolment in this unit. You should also note that the dates for this unit may be changed.

- LAWS3336: NEGOTIATION AND MEDIATION
  This unit is offered 3 times in 2007: 12-16 February, 25-29 June and 10-14 September. Please enroll in one time period only. While intended for final year students, this unit may be available to students in their second last year if there are insufficient enrolments from final year students. A reserve list will be kept.

  The unit is very demanding and thorough preparation by reading the course material and cases provided before sessions commence is essential.

  Where applications exceed places available there will be a ballot. If you are unsuccessful in gaining your preferred time period you will be placed on a reserve list for a place in any of the 3 sessions, again places which become available will be balloted. It is important that your student email account is active since this is the means by which we will communicate with you about all of this.

  Note: If you are not present on the first morning by 9:15am, your place in the course will be given to the next reserve on the list.

  You will know you have been successful in gaining a place in these units if the initial ‘invalid’ on your enrolment is changed to ‘enrolled’.

  Check for this confirmation after 31 January 2007.
